Governor, I had a good conversation with Kristan this morning. She is an excellent choice. I let her know DNR will support her and ultimately you to give the Dairy Farmers the best chance possible to be successful. She will provide recommendations for Ag director from the BAC as soon as possible, right after 7/6. I let her know that Doug Warner is acting Ag director right now and he is available to help on any issues. Also to call me if answers don't come quick enough, we don't have any time to waste. god bless Tom

Governor Palin, Mr. Tibbles:

Wanted to let you guys know a lot of supportive phone calls and emails have been coming in in support of the BAC changes. Jacob has drafted approximately 20 letters this week thanking people for their emails and/or phone calls. The appointment letters will go out today for the new members.

Also, wanted you guys to know I think I had a very successful trip to St. Louis. I came back energized and ready to implement some of the great tools I learned. I'll prepare a summary for you guys today. In sum, we're doing a lot of good things up here. We have a great website, a lot of useful and user friend information available on our website, we correspond well with applicants, and we focus on ethics. My peers had a lot of questions regarding these things.

I picked up ways to improve our application, turn around time on paperwork, and utilizing your executive staff. The things I found most important were how to utilize the advance person that travels with the governor (those names of people you meet that can be relayed back to me for plugging in) and staffing the b&c office. I look forward to sharing my ideas with both of you on these items.

Thanks,

I know you're slammed right now so I'll give them a call and ensure their commitment to serve. I'll also let them know that you'll be following up w/them on organization of the task force. I'll provide you contact information as well.

Also, Mike is checking with law on when Joe Austerman can get in to Mat Maid and do a review (email, hard drives, etc.).

I'll let you know once I've contacted everyone listed above.

The conference call on Friday this to review Joe's contract, his resignation letter, the letter the creamery corporation wrote to him, and the proposed (by Joe) employee retention and severance package. I read through the employee retention and severance plan last night and it has some things in it that I have never seen offered before. Those discussions have to be in executive session, but we will be coming out of executive session if we have any motions to make after that (we will probably just have more questions). I will need the two AG attorneys who have been working on those contracts, Parry Grover and Joan Travostino, to be on those conference calls with me. I am not sure how to reach them, but have asked Tina, the AG that was there yesterday to get me their numbers or emails. I also asked her to let me know what the notice requirements are for the Creamery Board to meet with the task force.

Thanks for the kind remarks, Kristan

Governor,

I had a brief opportunity to update Joe Balash last night on the LNG Export License discussions with ConocoPhillips and Marathon, but I'm not sure he will be able to provide you an update before your calls to the Producer CEO's today. It is possible Jim Mulva may raise the LNG Export License issue and I want you to know the latest information. As I advised last week, the attorney for the Consumer Advocacy Office, DNR's Oil & Gas staff and Craig Tillery, also with the Dept of Law, have been meeting with counterparts from Conoco & Marathon to determine if there was any common ground to be found on our three issues associated with the LNG Export License Extension. As of late yesterday it appears that we have found agreement on how to address two of the three issues: 1) access to the LNG plant for non-owner gas producers (through purchases of gas) and; & 2) replacing depleting reserves in the Cook Inlet in two ways (through future development of Marathon and Conoco's producing properties in the Cook Inlet & access to their geological and geophysical data). We are now starting to draft the agreement that ensures the companies follow-through on these two issues.

That leaves one issue outstanding and that is our requirement there be no export of LNG unless all the utilities have full supply contracts in-place (negotiated and approved by the RCA) before they may "lift" LNG for export (load cargos - referred to as "boats on the water"). The companies have indicated this demand is not commercially reasonable and they can find no way to accomodate this requirement. However, the companies seem satisfied that we have eliminated two of our demands and they are content to proceed to the Dept of Energy (DOE) with one issue outstanding. It is obvious they are comfortable they can make a convincing argument to DOE when the issue is heard. Therefore, the state's filing will be amended to reflect only one outstanding issue, and that amended filing must be presented to DOE by June 26th (unless some extension is granted). In the meantime Kevin Banks (DOG) will be developing detail on how our resolved issues have been addressed so that you (or DNR, whichever you prefer) have the material for a press release and information to respond to enquiries from the press. Kevin will provide this detail to Meghan Stapleton, Joe Balash and Mike Tibbles. This material will be completed by end of the day tomorrow (Thursday). One cautionary note: amending the filing and developing press materials all assumes that the agreement we are just beginning to develop on the two "resolved" issues is finalized and the companies don't back away from the verbal agreements.

Finally, just an FYI. The AGIA Team has been working very diligently on developing the RFA and we seem to be on schedule. We are still intending to get the RFA on the street on July 2nd, although we are simply telling people our "goal" is the first week of July. This all presumes nothing insurmountable presents over the next week.
Let me know if you need any additional information.
Marty R

FYI: Tomorrow, Wednesday, June 20, BP Exploration is hosting a reception at the Anchorage Museum of History and Art celebrating 30 years of the oil industry's partnership with Alaska. The invitation looks like it is from BP/Alyeska/ConocoPhillips/AOGA. This event will be attended by community leaders across the state, and they are hoping the Governor might be able to stop by. If so, they were hoping she might be able to say a few words. Time: 6:30-8:30pm. We've neither regretted or committed the Governor to this event.

Governor: This might come up during your phone calls tomorrow.

Joe's Blackberry is not working, so he has not yet weighed in on this. Kurt and Antony have both approved it.

I hope I struck the proper tone: resolve in the face of desperate threats by the producers to kill AGIA's must-haves (and not only not apply, but not nominate gas to an AGIA licensee in the O/S), tempered by the assurance that we just doing what is reasonable and fair. Both full and condensed versions are attached.

Met with Vic Fisher today- he's disappointed we didn't select some outstanding applicants for LBC, including former Frbnks city manager and attorney Patick Cole, plus another experinced municipal official (mr. Ringstad) and instead chose an anti-government individual with no local issues background that LBC deals in. (His summary, not mine). I am not sure if Ivy shared that we had good candidates apply for LBC, but I do remember her suggesting Lavelle Wilson, from Tok, whom was chosen.

We need Dan Sadler soon, ok?

You're awesome John - thanks for all this good info.

Dare I say I'm excited about trying to tackle subsistence? I don't want to get shot by my good colleagues for saying so - but I'm anxious to add this challenege to our docket. I look forward to hearing more about the previous steps taken that coulda'shoulda' led to some success.

Thank you!

Subject: Native Meeting/Follow-Up

Brief comments on three items -

* BLM Landscape legislation (Orrie Williams)

* This legislation would give the BLM specific authority to = identify and manage important landscapes. We and others have been = concerned that the legislation could be interpreted to restrict the BLM's = multiple use mandate and might be used by the environmental community to = litigate management decisions.

* Orrie Williams should know that we are coordinating the State's ad= vocacy with Doyon's legal counsel. Right now, we are looking at a = tripartite solution that involves a general disclaimer, Alaska specific = language, and legislative history.

* The House SubCommittee Chairman and the BLM swear that they are not = trying to change existing policy. The SubCommittee Chair has told = Congressman Young that he will do whatever is necessary to address our = concerns. So, I am optimistic at the moment.

* We will continue our efforts in coordination with the Congressional = delegation, BLM, Alaska Miners Association, and Doyon.

* Section 8(a) Contracting

* It sounds like this discussion went well. We will stay in = contact with the Native community and members of Congress in order to = develop and implement a strategy that preserves the essential elements of = the program.

* This could be a tough fight in the Senate, but the program is = important enough to Native corporations and the Alaska economy to warrant = our full participation.

* Subsistence

* I don't claim to have the "Silver Bullet" either, but I'd like to help = you think through the issues at the appropriate time. Perhaps, it = should disqualify me, but I've worked on various permeations of this issue = since 1969.

* The closest the State ever came was a tripartite solution = involving an amendment to the State Constitution and revisions = to State and Federal statutory law. Even this approach incurred the = wrath of people at each end of the subsistence spectrum. Unfortunatel= y, many rural people now seem to favor federal management. =

* The Alaska Congressional delegation usually says that they won't act = at the federal level without a consensus among Alaskans about how to = proceed. Successive Secretaries of the Interior have seen subsistence= as the third rail of Alaska politics and have been reluctant to participat= e in the dialogue, citing their trust relationship to Alaska Natives. =

* None of this is said to discourage you but to restate the obvious. = ; That is, it will take a truly concerted effort (and, as you said, = perhaps Devine intervention) to move the parties toward a solution. =

* I wish the Alaska Supreme Court would decide the Manning case. = This could help in reframing the issue.

It sounds like you had a really good meeting with the Native = leaders.

Please note that my email address has = changed. My new email address = is <mailto:jwkatz@alaskadc.org> jwkatz@alaskadc.org. = Thank you .

Governor,

One more item. I talked to Ivy about Dan Saddler. She just returned from a boards and commissions training session held by NGA. Of course she feels that she now has the information to do the job without a deputy. I basically told her no choice, we needed the help. I was thinking that Dan can also work with Mark to start developing electronic newsletters. I will give Dan a call tomorrow.

I meant to double check and see if you were on the distribution list for the email. Sorry about that. I can have the Anchorage office print off a copy for you the next time you are in.
